PLAY GOLF FOR THE REPUBLIC CUP.

Stewart Stickney Makes Best Medal Score-Sixteen Qualify for Class A.

ARTHUR STICKNEY SECOND.

Wind Interferes With the Players -First Round of the Match Play Is to Take Place To-Morrow.

The preliminary round in the amateur champion golf tournament for The Republic Cup was played yesterday on the links of the Field Club near Bissell's Point, in the presence of a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators. There were forty entries, and of this number the sixteen making the best res were qualified to play for The Republic Cup in class A. public Cup in class A.

The umbiella offered by the St. Louis Golf Association for the best medal score was awarded to Stewart Stickney. His brother, Arthur, was a close second, and Bort McKinney, whom many expected to come out first, was two strokes behind Arthur Stickney. Charles Scudder, another favorite, was fourth, and C. H. Viele.

vorite, was fourth, and C. H. Kirk, the Philadelphia expert, fifth, The links were in prime condition, and, despite an unsteady wind which greatly licapped the putting, the medal scores of the various players were above the averhandicapped the putting, the medal scores of the various players were above the average.

Bert McTheey looked like a sure winner until Stewart Stickney finished his tweifth hole. Up to that time McKinney was in the lead by five strokes. Stowart Stickney finished his first nine holes in forty-four strokes, three more than were required by McKinney in making the same number of holes, and enough in view of Stickney's nervous temperament, to assure the latter's defeat. In the second half of his sume, however, Stickney abowed marked improvement, especially at the third, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth holes all of which he made with a total of only twenty-four strokes.

Mr. Scudder's performance was rather a disappointment to his friends, who were confident that he would make a better showing than either of the Stickneys or McKinney. Although Mr. Scudder did not uphold his average, he displayed more skill than his competitors and had it not been for the wind, which seemed to be purposely interfering with him, he would have been nearer the lead than fourth. For instance, his drive from the home tee was carried by the wind beyond the boundary line three times in succession.

As often as Mr. Scudder would reckon on the wind biowing in a certain direction it would surely be opposite by the time he had lifted his ball and the gutta-perchawould be salied away off somewhere that he did not want it. Mr. Scudder's approaches were marvelous for their precision and his putting was one of the most noticeable features of the game.

Arthur Stickney's playing was slightly on the sensational order. He started off by making the first hole in five strokes, and followed up with four holes in four strokes each. He fell down at the sixth and eighth holes, taking six strokes for each one, and then, after some remarkably good playing, in which his skill and judgment asserted themselven, he wound up by putting the ball in the last hole from a distance of nearly fifty feet.

Little is to be said of Mr. Kirk's showing yesterday, as he falled to gather any additional laurels. His playing, while elever, was not any better than any of his previous exhibitions, and he was also handicapped by the wind.

Speculation as to who will win The Republic Cup seems to favor Mr. McKinney. According to the way the sixteen qualified players have been paired off for the next contest, either McKinney or Stewart Stickney will play in the final, with Scudder or Kirk, and, as it is feared Stickney will fail down at the crucial mement, as is his wont, McKinney is looked upon as the pos-or Kirk, and, as it is feared Stickney will fail down at the crucial moment, as is his wont, McKinney is looked upon as the possible opponent of one of the other two, either of whom, it is said, he can beat.

Class A has been paired off for the next contest, which will take place Monday, as follows:

S. Stickney vs. Gilbert, Adams vs. Bissell, Dunham vs. Semple, Carleton vs. McKinney, Scudder vs. Meyer, Schwartz vs. Edmunds, Connor vs. Kirk and Ives vs. A. Stickney.

Stickney. Class B-Vickery vs. Koehler, Venable vs. Haley, Gregg vs. Carter and Whittemore vs.

Class C.-J. P. Annan vs. Boyd, Kelley vs. Wilson, Abadie vs. Newberry and Elting vs. A. H.Annan, The committee in charge of the tournament atmounced the first round of match play will take place for all three classes on Monday. The second round will take place Wednesday the semifinals for the championship T. Jiday and the finals next Saturday. Trophy cups will be given to the winners of all three classes.

About two weeks will be sufficient in sell every share of the literatural stock in our opinion—although it may go in less time. There is no question in my mind but that the news of $20 set or taking been uncovered at the "Golconda" mine, a near-by neighbor of ours had its effect in harrying our sales, for according to Warren Cable's report, the Cracker-Oregon has as good a show of recovering tich one as the "Golconda" or any of the other great mines in the district.

We Are in the Rich Ore District!

We have given this new mine of ours wide publicity and have fold of its brilliant prospects before, but it all may have escaped YOUR notice, and we shall go over the copy again for your hearit.

a book of 32 pages handsomely illustrated, which tells all about our property and shows mans of the section.

In selling mining stock we proceed somewhat differently from the rest. We ask for a searching examination of our property firm. We tell those who write to us where they may get reliable information, other than ours, regarding the property. In short, there are no afterdays to our proposition. The wound-be investor is given every facility to find out the exact status of mine and management. We pursued this course in selling the Tornagain stock and enjoy the confidence of that great army of stockholders to-day as a consequence.

We feel positive that the present allotment of 15c stock in this mine will be all sold within the month. It is offered in the following way:

100 Shares $15, 200 Shares $30, 300 Shares $45, 400 Shares $60, 500 Shares $75, and so on.

The par value of these shares is $1.00, fully paid up, non-assessable, non-forfeitable, and no personal liability.

The first step to take is to send for the prospectus.

Do that at once, for if you buy at all—and we think you will after reading it over—you may as well buy at the 15c price. It is a co-operative proposition. Not one of the officials of the Company draws a cent of salary while the preliminary work is being done. The men at the head of the Company are good, substantial business men, who stand well in the communities where they live and do business.
